

International Cooperation

China Water Resources Strategic Studies founded and followed by a forum on national water security and integrated water resources management

Consultant of Pakistani Heavy Mechanical Complex visits IWHR for hydropower project and future cooperation in and outside the South-Asian country

International Hydropower Association (IHA) President and CEO visit IWHR to renew cooperation agreement on the association's China Office

Practice manager on water resources of World Bank East Asia and Pacific (EAP) visits IWHR to talk on advancing regional water cooperation

Research Progress

Integrated remote control system for giant generator units of cascade hydropower stations in lower reaches of Jinsha River, the upper stretches of the Yangtze River

IWHR, funded by China's Ministry of Science and Technology, develops guidelines on groundwater vulnerability evaluation for groundwater protection and management

Edited by IWHR, the standardized and easy-to-use national standard for classification of regional drought severity is officially published on World Standard Day

Stabilizing slurry using plaster used for the first time in subway construction for anti-seepage and reinforcement in southwest China's Nanning City